

Guide Law Hunt

Contributed by Sarah Ward

This activity is designed to be set up in a park area. There are three clues on each piece of paper so cut each page into three. Distribute each clue randomly throughout the park area – the bigger distance between them, particularly consecutive clues, the better.

A good way to check that girls have done the hunt correctly is to put pieces of a jigsaw to pick up at each place and making it another challenge to put the jigsaw together at the end. You will need a puzzle with 11-12 pieces! (of course you can supply extra pieces at the end so they can complete their jigsaw). An idea for the jigsaw could be pieces of a voucher entitling them to a piece of cake each or some other treat!

Please remember to be kind to the environment and clean up clues and jigsaw pieces after the activity is finished.

Why not :

- Use this as a patrol competition – see which patrol finishes the hunt first.
- Use this as an activity to accompany a promise ceremony.
- Share this activity with others on Thinking Day.
